TOBY AND THE BEAR.

A MANEUVER OVER WHICH THE WISE OLD NATIVES DIFFERED.

Toby Was the Smartest Bear Dog In All the Woods, and His Owner Wouldn't Have Sold Him For $100, but He Wasn't Cut Out For an Acrobat.

"I had a dog named Toby when I was living up in the Pennsylvania lumber woods," said George W. Reynolds of the National Lumber company. "He was a bear dog. Bears, as every one knows who ever lived among them, hate dogs beyond everything else, two legged or four legged, and will frequently give up a good chance to escape from a pursuing hunter just for the satisfaction of waiting for the dog that is yelping behind him and taking a fall out of him when he comes up, a fall that usually ends the dog's career, especially if it is a dog not especially trained to hunt the bear.

"This dog Toby of mine was famous all through these woods. He was acknowledged to be the most accomplished dog when it came to getting the best of bear that had ever been in that country, and if any hunter didn't catch a bear when Toby was along it wasn't the dog's fault. Once Toby was borrowed by a man named Crowley, who knew where a couple of bears were hanging out. The dog routed them out and drove them plumb to Crowley, who could easily have shot them both, but instead, when he saw them coming, he cut and ran. Tim Bull, who had gone along with Crowley on the hunt, said that Toby just stood still and gazed in amazement after the flying hunter. Crowley, seeing that the bears had got away, soon came back. The dog showed his opinion of Crowley by bristling up and growling savagely and threateningly at him for a few seconds. Then he quit and went home. Ever after that Toby would snap and growl at Crowley whenever he saw him.

"One day I was looking over a logging job I had contracted for and discovered signs of bear along the creek. Next day Toby and I went out to see what we could do with the bear. We soon struck the trail, and Toby located the bear in a small patch of laurels, from which he soon routed bruin. He brought the bear to bay in a little open space in a piece of chestnut timber. There was no necessity of the bear turning at bay, but he evidently wanted to get a whack at Toby. I could have easily sent a bullet through the bear, but having the utmost confidence in Toby's smartness, and seeing that the bear was anxious to put his smartness against the dog's, I concluded to let him have the chance and to enjoy the sport of a few minutes' maneuvering between the two.

"It was fun. Toby worried the already ugly old chap with tricks and quick movements until the bear was wild with rage. Do what he might, he couldn't get a blow or a bite in on Toby, while Toby got a nip at the bear at almost every turn. This amusing dance lasted for ten minutes, and I felt so proud of my dog that I declared there and then that it would take a good deal more than a $100 bill to buy him.

"Some wise old natives of those woods assured me afterward that what this bear finally did was a premeditated act, deliberately and successfully carried out as planned. Others declared that it was an afterthought of the bear's. I myself held and hold yet that it was entirely an accident, because I will not admit that there ever was a bear smart enough to get the better of Toby by design.

"After sparring and rushing fruitlessly at the dog for ten minutes the bear put his back against a tree and breathed hard for at least a minute. Then it suddenly dropped to all fours and hurried toward another tree a rod or so away. Toby followed, and as the bear started to climb the tree seized it by one of its hams. Although the dog must have set his teeth deep in the flesh, the bear did not stop on his way, but climbed on as if nothing was worrying him. The dog held on and was lifted from the ground as the bear climbed. The higher the bear went the tighter Toby appeared to hang on to its rear, and presently he was swinging in the air 15 feet from the ground.

"The sight was so funny that I just tumbled on the ground and roared. The bear stopped when about 15 feet up the trunk of the tree, clung there for a moment, and then let loose. He came down like a pile driver. When he struck at the bottom of the tree, Toby was between him and the ground. There was a faint yelp, and that was all. Three hundred pounds of bear had flattened 40 pounds of dog out of all kind of shape. The catastrophe was so sudden and unexpected that before I could recover from the painful surprise it gave me the bear had disappeared in the laurels. There never was a smarter bear dog than Toby, but he wasn't cut out for an acrobat. There is where he made his mistake. There never was a smarter dog than Toby, nor was there ever a deader one when that bear got off of him."—New York Sun.

Mrs. Huntington's Baths.

Mrs. C. P. Huntington recently got a new maid. She instructed her about the arrangement of her bath. "You will prepare my bath every morning and every night," she began. "Mon Dieu!" exclaimed the new maid, "two baths a day! Why, my last lady took one in a week, and the little children only took one a week too." "Poor little wretches!" exclaimed the new mistress. And she tells the story in the same spirit, but she does not tell whom her maid lived with before she got her. The two baths a day are supposed to have an effect in keeping down her flesh.—Philadelphia Press.

EARLY LIFE OF PAUL JONES.

He Came to America to Inherit an Estate In Virginia.

There is no record of his having attended any school except that of the parish of Kirkbean, but he developed a truly Scotch passion for reading and writing. He went to sea when 12 years old and made two voyages during his minority in a slaver, but hating the traffic he left it and the ship too. At 20 he was in command of a fine brigantine. About this time occurred what he calls, in a letter to Robert Morris, "a great misfortune," adding, "I am under no concern whatever that this or any other circumstance of my past life will sink me in your opinion." The trouble was a threatened criminal prosecution for having had a carpenter flogged, which was the usual mode of punishment in those days. The matter was investigated, and Paul Jones was fully acquitted.

It is worthy of remark that the magistrate who inquired into that matter notes that Paul Jones expressed great sorrow for having had the man flogged, although the charge of cruelty was fully disproved. He returned to Scotland once after this, and although affectionately received by his own family his friends and neighbors seem to have treated him coldly. The smart from this injustice turned the indifference he felt for his native land into hatred, and ever after he considered himself quite free from any responsibility for having been born and having spent the first 12 years of his life in so inhospitable a country.

In his twenty-seventh year a great and fortunate change occurred to him. His brother William, who had emigrated to Virginia and died there, left him an estate. There is no doubt that Paul Jones was often afterward in want of ready money, but it must be remembered that everybody was in want of ready money in the eighteenth century. Certain it is, from his papers preserved at Washington, that he might be considered at the beginning of the war a man of independent fortune.

The two years of his life in Virginia are obscure, as might be expected from a man living the life of a provincial country gentleman, which the records concerning him prove. At the outbreak of war with the mother country Paul Jones hastened to Philadelphia, and through Mr. Joseph Hewes, a member of congress from North Carolina, got his commission as senior first lieutenant in the infant navy of the colonies. It was then he made the acquaintance of Robert Morris, to whom he felt a passionate gratitude and affection, and whom he named as sole executor in his will, Mr. Hewes being then dead.—Miss Molly Elliot Seawell in Century.

IN THE FUTURE.

When the Girl Who Earns $5,000 a Year Will Be a Desirable Wife.

"Don't you think it about time for Mabel to consider the subject of matrimony?" he asked hesitatingly.

"Oh, there is plenty of time," replied his wife. "Mabel is very ambitious, you know, and she is used to certain so called luxuries that she would dislike to give up."

"Well, frankly, I think she is working too hard."

"Oh, no, she isn't. It will do her good. And since she won that case in the supreme court her income has been steadily increasing. If she continues to do as well in her profession, she may be able to think of marriage in a year or so. You see, things have changed since we were married."

"Indeed they have," he sighed.

"Then a girl's beauty, temperament and accomplishments had more to do with her matrimonial chances, but it is very different now, very different indeed. Mabel is not yet the prize that I wish her to be, and I doubt if she could be sure of getting the kind of husband that I desire her to have. The best young men are very particular, you know."

"Very true," he admitted.

"Many of them will hardly look at a girl whose earning capacity is not $4,000 or $5,000 a year. Mabel agrees with me that it is best to wait until she has reached that point, and then she is sure to be sought after by the very best and most desirable young men in the city."—Chicago Post.

"A Nice Pupil!"

Napoleon was a great soldier, but he could not spell. His handwriting was also so bad as to give rise to the rumor that he used undecipherable characters to conceal the fact that he, the master of Europe, could not master French orthography.

In the early days of the empire a man of modest aspect presented himself before the emperor.

"Who are you?" asked Napoleon.

"Sire, I had the honor at Brienne for 15 months to give writing lessons to your majesty."

"You turned out a nice pupil!" said the emperor, with vivacity. "I congratulate you on your success!" Nevertheless he conferred a pension upon his old master.—Youth's Companion.

REAL RAZORBACKS.

A HOMELY AND FEROCIOUS HOG ON HIS NATIVE HEATH.

He Does Not Resemble His Pampered Brother of the Berkshire Breed—His Existence Measured by the Rule of "Root, Hog, or Die"—Hog Killing Parties.

There is a great difference in hogs. The form, contour and face of the rounded, sleek sided, short legged Berkshire and other hogs of high degree do not much resemble the angular, razor backed hog common throughout the south The countenance of the well bred, well cared for species is chubby and contented looking, the ears small, the snout inclined to turn up rather than down His less fortunate cousin has a long, narrow face, immense, flopping ears that hang disconsolately over his eyes, and an elongated, pointed snout that seems providentially formed to aid his earthy explorations. "Root, hog, or die," is a common saying in the country of which this hog is a native, and the swine seem to realize the situation. They have long legs and always run with their snouts close to the ground, convenient for unearthing anything eatable which may come in their way They diligently root up the promising morsel of food and gulp it down, without stopping to enjoy it, and run on apparently faster than ever, grunting as they go, in search of something more—some favorite acorn or juicy bit of grass or berry root, upon which they largely depend for subsistence

Naturally the vast amount of imperative exercise they take ranging through the woods effectually prevents their taking on much superfluous flesh, and the hair on their narrow backs is as rough and coarse as that of the well bred hog is smooth and glossy. The majority of them are of a dingy white color, perhaps spotted with black, and when a white coated one, scantily covered with hair, has pale eyes, bound around with pink, and very light eyelashes, protruding beneath his drooping ears, he is as ugly a living object as can be imagined.

The little pigs are moderately pretty when young, but not in the least like the plump, little, chubby faced baby Berkshire, and long before they have arrived at the age when they are called "shotes" they have become ungainly and common looking The negroes have great faith in the ability of the hog to survive any amount of neglect and still live to provide sausages and pork stew for the winter season. At certain seasons, when the "shotes" can do no damage to the maturing crops, it is necessary to confine them until the fields are bare once more and will admit of their ranging at will.

In the course of a walk once, a small negro boy and girl were found seated on top of the fence which surrounded a pen, flinging corn to two hogs within the inclosure. The rude feeding trough was as dry as if no liquid had ever dampened it, and this on a hot summer afternoon Inquiry as to when the prisoners had last had water given them elicited no response from the shy little "shote minders." After some inquiry and explanation that the pigs would like water the boy consented to go to the house, some distance off, for a bucket, after bringing which the children went to the spring, in a little hollow in the woods behind the pen, and procured water for the thirsty creatures. It is needless to say that they drank it with avidity This pen was in an open field, with not a single bit of shade near. It had belonged to an humble establishment, the house and barn of which had been moved to some other tract of land, and the owner of the hogs had utilized the pen just where it was, the distance from his dwelling, which was plentifully supplied with well water, rendering it most inconvenient to attend to the wants of the animals.

The pen could easily have been moved, as the fence around it was made of movable rails placed zigzag fashion on purpose that it might be changed from place to place, but evidently the comfort of the "shotes" was not regarded as of much importance. Later, a small, slim figure, in a scant, homespun dress, faded and torn, suddenly emerged from a narrow path which opened upon the road, and a childish voice said timidly, "Do you want some headache blossom, ma'am?" a little black hand holding out a bunch of delicate pink flowers, with perfume more powerful than sweet. The acceptance of this offering seemed to thaw out her reserve, and the little girl volunteered the information that she and Yankee, her brother, "aimed to dash water to de hog ebery ebenin."

In the days of the old regime the crops were all fenced in, and the hogs, and cattle as well, were allowed to roam at will through the fastnesses of the swamps and timbered tracts. Oftentimes the animals were not seen for months When the time drew near for hog killing, parties were made up to "drive" the swamp and capture the half wild creatures, as it was desired to fatten them in pens before killing It was not infrequently the case that the swine became quite ferocious, having been left so long at large, and the hunters found themselves in the midst of a "wild boar" hunt in earnest, which they hagely enjoyed Most of the farmers of the southern states now leave their crops unfenced, and the stock has to be pastured or looked after, which practice has put an end to such pursuits.—New York Tribune

Hard Wood.

According to a recent legal decision reported in The Timberman, hard wood is "any tree that has a leaf as distinguished from a needle" A man contracted to deliver to a railroad hard wood cordwood, and he delivered a poplar in part fulfillment of the contract. The railroad rejected this as not hard wood and sued, but the contractor won the case on the decision of the court, as reported above Women will now have a distinct and lawful standard to gauge their hard wood furniture descriptions.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

THERE is a plan on foot to build and operate a railroad from Santa Rosa to Petaluma, the head of tide water. The proposed road is being pressed by James W. Keys of Oakland and other capitalists of that city. The McNear's, the Cotate Company and other prominent men and firms of Petaluma are also interesting themselves in the matter.

GEORGE LUMBUS, the Petaluma chicken thief, is like the Irishman's flea—"now you've got him and now you haven't." Some time ago he was arrested in the "hen city" for purloining poultry by the wagon load from a number of farmers in the near vicinity. He was taken to Santa Rosa and lodged in jail. Pending his trial he succeeded in breaking jail and getting away as far as Ukiah, where he was captured after a few days of freedom. After being brought back again to Santa Rosa and lodged in jail he feigned insanity so successfully that the lunacy commission committed him to the asylum at Ukiah. The other day while working around the grounds of that institution he managed to elude the vigilance of the attendants, who discovered to their chagrin that the wily George was non est. As he is a constitutional fancier of other people's poultry it is only a question of time when he will again be in the toils of the law.

FACT AND FANCY.

BY JEDWIN NEBWAME.

My mind is at rest; the Income Tax has been declared to be unconstitutional. I did not like the idea of contributing anything to a government, or rather administration, that sold our bonds to a foreign syndicate at a price less than that which they would bring in our home markets. Our worthy President will doubtless explain just why this was done when he writes that work on "Political Economy," of which we have recently been hearing so much.

* * *

It may be interesting to some readers to know just why the State University sends out each year a number of her teachers to examine the High Schools of the State, so I shall briefly explain. For a long time—until recently—it has been necessary for a student to pass an examination in certain studies before entering the University. This was to make certain that the student was able to carry the work of the University. The subjects in which the student was examined were the same as those taught in the High Schools of our State and since the major position of the students came from the High Schools it was evident that it would be highly desirable to admit them into the University without an examination. But some of the High Schools were doing good work and some were doing poor work. Some graduated students who were able to do the higher work and some did not. So it was manifestly impossible to admit the graduates of all the High Schools. The University met the difficulty in this way: Every school that wished to have its graduates admitted into the University without examination applied to that institution to have examiners sent to determine the quality of work being done. If the work was satisfactory to the examiners the school was put on the accredited list and its graduates admitted upon the recommendation of the Principal. This plan has been found to work well and is now in use. This year seventy High Schools have made application to be put on the accredited list.

The new High School Law which was passed by the last Legislature makes one radical change in the present system. At present the Clerks of the District School Boards in the Union High School District constitute the Board of Trustees of the Union High School. According to the new law each district in the Union High School District will elect one High School Trustee.

The County's Money and the Banks.

According to the opinion of the Attorney General the depositing of money belonging to the county with the different banks of Santa Rosa is illegal. Heretofore it has been the custom of former Treasurer's to divide the money up among the several banks in the County Seat for safe-keeping, which by the way, is seems to us was a very safe and wise plan. Attorney General Fitzgerald says in his opinion that the special deposit permitted by the law is "a deposit of specific money, gold, silver or currency for safe keeping only, and is not such a deposit as that made by the Treasurers of Sonoma county. Money can only be deposited for safe-keeping and in any event the Treasurer is responsible for it in case of loss. In making special deposits the Treasurer parts both with the specific money itself and title to it. Both money and title pass to the bank and the bank promises to repay to the order of the Treasurer respective amounts of money specified in certificates. It does not promise to pay the identical money or thing deposited. This is clearly in violation of Section 87 of the County Government Act and certificates of deposit cannot be considered as money in the hands of the Treasurer."

A Terrible Visitant.

Pain is always a terrible visitant and often domiciles itself with one for life. This infliction is preventible in case of rheumatism by a timely resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which checks the encroachments of this obstinate and dangerous malady at the outset. The term "dangerous" is used advisedly, for rheumatism is always liable to attack the vital organs and terminate life. No testimony is more conclusive and concurrent than that of physicians who testify to the excellent effect of the Bitters in this disease. Persons incur a wetting in rainy or snowy weather and who are exposed to draughts should use the Bitters as a preventive of ill effects. Malaria, dyspepsia, liver and kidney trouble, nervousness and debility are also among the ailments to which this popular medicine is adapted. For the infirmities, soreness and stiffness of the aged it is highly beneficial.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

An Electric Railway.

The building of an electric railway from Sonoma to tide water at Embarcadero is again being agitated by a number of Sonoma Valley people. It is proposed to construct the road down the center of Broadway, which is 125 feet wide, to the end of that thoroughfare and from thence in a direct line as possible to Embarcadero. The distance between the two points is about six miles and those who favor the scheme say that the road can be constructed at small cost and if put in operation will effect a great saving in the shipment of freight to and from the metropolis. Such a road it is claimed by its advocates will prove a good thing for the farmers and would also be of great advantage to Sonoma, as it would concentrate in the town most of the trade of Sonoma Valley, which at present is anybody's trade in Petaluma, Napa, Santa Rosa and San Francisco.

The Harvest in Full Blast.

The cutting, raking and stacking of hay commenced throughout Sonoma Valley this week. On every side the clattering sound of the mower is heard. the blacksmiths are busily engaged in repairing rakes and presses, new ones have been purchased and every indication goes to show that the haying season is now in full blast. On the Senator Jones ranch a few miles south of town, which is at present one vast plain entirely covered with hay, nearly forty men are engaged in cutting and stacking the grain so as to have it in readiness for the presses. Several hundred acres will be left to grow for a while and when the proper time arrives the remaining portion which has not been cut will be headed, thrashed and sacked. The crop on this ranch is exceptionally fine and will average several tons to the acre. The same can be said of the entire crop of Sonoma Valley and our farmers are looking forward to a fair price for their product this season.

The Delinquent Tax List.

The bids for publishing the delinquent tax list of Sonoma county were opened by the Board of Supervisors last Thursday morning. There were only four competitors for the work, viz: Robert A. Thompson of the Santa Rosa Democrat, A. B. Lemmon of the Santa Rosa Republican, Editor Switzer of the Santa Rosa Farmer and H. H. Granice of the Sonoma INDEX-TRIBUNE. For some reason or another the Petaluma, Healdsburg, Sebastopol and Cloverdale papers did not enter into the competition. The work was awarded to Editor Thompson of the Democrat, whose bid was the lowest. The bids per square for the four insertions were as follows: Editor Switzer, 70 cents, H. H. Granice, 62 cents, A. B. Lemmon, 38 cents, R. A. Thompson, 34 cents. Last year Mr. Lemmon printed the delinquent tax list and received $1,013 for the service. This year the cost, according to Mr. Thompson's bid, will be less than $250, a figure far below the real value of the work.

Base Ball Reviving in Sonoma.

Several years ago Sonoma possessed a base ball nine, which numbered among its members several experts with the sphere. They played in a quick, active manner and puzzled competing teams and although the Sonoma's engaged in many hard-fought contests they seldom, if ever, met with defeat. Of late years, however, the interest which used to characterize base ball in this place has gradually died out, but is now being revived. A junior nine, which has recently been organized, now attracts the attention of numerous spectators while practicing once a week in the vacant lot adjoining the Presentation Convent on Napa street. The students of the High School have also become interested in base ball and have organized a nine and the two teams will meet on May 30th in what promises to be a very exciting contest.

Slight Frost.

A slight frost visited this valley last Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. A few vineyards in low places were slightly nipped, but all escaped serious injury. It is now thought that all danger from frost is past and that Sonoma Valley's grape yield will be good this season.

If the hair is falling out, or turning gray, requiring a stimulant with nourishing and coloring food, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is just the specific.

AGUA CALIENTE SPRINGS.

Buildings Being Renovated and a Park to be Laid Out—Fine Flow of Hot Water Secured.

Ever since Dr. Nordin became the owner of the Agua Caliente Springs Hotel and grounds, a few months ago, numerous carpenters, painters, plasterers, gas-fitters, etc., have been busily engaged in improving the above resort. A short time ago the new owner engaged the services of the Johannsen Bros. to sink an artesian well near the site of the old swimming baths on the place with the expectation of striking a flow of hot mineral water which would compare in abundance and medicinal qualities with the remarkable flow which was obtained a few months ago on Capt. Boyes' place. With this object in view the auger has been steadily applied ever since, with the result that success crowned the effort last Monday when an excellent flow was secured, which now rises to a height of several feet above the surface of the earth. The water, which is of a sulphurous nature, has an average temperature of 100 degrees. New swimming baths will soon be erected at the point where this marvelous flow has been obtained, which will be equipped with all the modern facilities for bathing. Another well will shortly be bored in the immediate vicinity of the hotel, the waters of which will be utilized throughout the different apartments of the house. The thirteen carpenters and numerous other tradesmen who are working on the place are engaged in tearing the old roofs off the buildings and putting on new ones, constructing new floors, replastering the interior of the hotel and other buildings, fitting out the entire place with gas fixtures and completly renovating the whole resort. After work on the buildings has been finished a beautiful park with broad drive-ways will be laid out, which together with other improvements, will make this one of the most delightful resorts in California.

Schocken's Swimming Baths to be Completed.

S. Schocken, one of Sonoma's most prominent and enterprising citizens, had a project on foot some time ago to erect a large swimming bath in the rear of his premises on Spain street and several men were set to work excavating a huge basin. After a short time, however, work was discontinued and it looked as though nothing more would be done in the way of completing the work already began. But the spark of energy has again illuminated the ideas of our townsman and with a determination to erect one of the finest swimming baths in California Mr. Schocken will again set a force of men to work some time during the early part of June. The bath will be one hundred and fifty feet in length and seventy-five feet in width and will gradually decend from one foot to a depth of eight feet. It will be supplied with the limpid waters which flow without cessation from the artesian well on Mr. Schocken's premises, which is one of the finest in the State.

Paxton, one of the directors of the Wine Markers' Corporation, transferring to the corporation over 600,000 gallons of dry red wines, dry white wines, fortified wines and distilling wine for the different members of the corporation in Sonoma county in the following amounts: John Dixon, Brook Hill, 26.000 gallons; B. The wine has already been sold and the first disbursement pro rata was made at Santa Rosa Wednesday and at Cloverdale and Healdsburg the early part of May. —Santa Rosa Democrat.

THE SEDUCER'S VICTIM.

The Poor Girl Laid to Rest in a Dishonored Grave.

Miss Lizzie M. Burke, a prepossessing young woman, died Wednesday at St. Luke's Hospital, San Francisco, from the effects of a criminal operation. Her death was promptly reported to the Coroner, whose deputies shortly afterward went after the body and brought it to the Morgue.

At the hospital Miss Burke was attended by Drs. Kenyon and Dozier, but who performed the operation from the effects of which she died has not been disclosed.

It was on the seventh of the month that she entered the institution, having then been in the city for about a month. She arrived there, in fact, on the 9th of April, having come from her former home in Yolo county.

Miss Burke, it will be remembered, is the same girl who lately left her home in Yolo because of the scandal arising out of her relations with E. C. Zane, the superintendent of the Yolo orchard.

Zane, who was formerly a resident of this valley, was arrested on May 3rd on a charge of seduction preferred by the girl's relatives, he having refused to right the wrong of which he was accused by marrying his alleged victim.

His bail was fixed at $2500, but it was soon found that the complaint against him was technically defective, and he was therefore released.

Miss Burke's family is highly respected in Yolo county and the young girl herself was very prominent in church and social circles. The feeling against Zane is very bitter in that county.

It is likely that Zane will again be arrested on a more serious charge than seduction. Mr. Burke, the father of the unfortunate girl, in an interview said that he could not tell what proceedings would be taken against Elmer C. Zane. He felt very bitter against that individual and thought that the citizens of Yolo would wreak summary vengeance upon him when they learned the fate of Miss Burke.

"There is no case pending against Zane at present," said Mr. Burke. "The charge of seduction was dismissed. My daughter told me that it was not a case of seduction or betrayal under promise of marriage. Zane, she said, took advantage of and assaulted her. When I learned this I did not press the suit. I intend to swear out another warrant, however, on a more serious charge."

Bicycle Notes.

Harry Madison, Captain of the Petaluma Wheelmen's Club, took a spin around Sonoma Valley on his "bike" last Sunday.

The Glen Ellen bicycle rider, who it is said has traveled a mile in 2:08, was in town last Monday and upon learning that the requirement for a race with our champion on the glorious Fourth would be $25 he decided to act as a spectator and not as a participant in the races on that day.

Eugene Donaldson, Fred. Batto and Wm. Kerner, members of the Sonoma Bicycle Club, rode on their wheels last Sunday up to Santa Rosa, then down to Petaluma and over to Sonoma. The wheelmen report having had a very enjoyable ride as the roads are in excellent condition and the day was mild and pleasant.

That is a merry war going on in Sacramento between the bicyclists and the police. The latter insists on the wheelmen carrying lanterns and giving warnings at each street corner. A procession was formed one day last week in which to some of the bicycles the headlights of engines were attached; at each street corner fishhorns were blown, and the police took it all as seriously as might have been expected from the guardians of a city where the curfew is still tolled.

The members of the Petaluma Wheelmen's Club will ride over to Sonoma to-morrow where they will be joined by the Sonoma and Napa Bicycle Clubs, who will accompany them to Glen Ellen, at which point they will meet a number of Santa Rosa cyclists. A sumptuous dinner will be partaken of at the Mervyn Hotel in the latter place at 11:30 o'clock, after which the four clubs will enjoy a pleasant ride over the level roads of Sonoma Valley.

It is said that one of our local wheelmen, who is seen every evening riding around the bicycle track at a lively gait, is training for a race with Sonoma's champion on the Fourth of July. The cyclist referred to is a very speedy rider and while out for a run last Monday evening he gave Frank a very lively chase up Napa street, ending only a few feet in the rear. Look out for him Frank. If Harvey's intentions are bent on a race with you on the Fourth he may compel you to acknowledge his superiority as a rider and the championship honors will rest on your head no longer.

Any one who has ever had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism will rejoice with Mr. J. A. Stumm, 220 Boyle Heights, Los Angeles, over his fortunate escape from a seige of that distressing ailment. Mr. Stumm is foreman of Merriam's confectionery establishment. Some months ago, on leaving the heated work room to run across the street on an errand, he was caught out in the rain. The result was that when ready to go home that night he was unable to walk, owing to inflammatory rheumatism. He was taken home and on arrival was placed in front of a good fire and thoroughly rubbed with Chamberlain's Pain Balm. During the evening and night he was repeatedly bathed with this liniment and by morning was relieved of all rheumatic pains. He now takes especial pleasure in praising Chamberlain's Pain Balm and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. For sale by all dealers.

To all whom it may concern: I hereby testify to the wonderful properties of P. P. P., for eruptions of the skin. I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face. Skin Cancer Cured.

Testimony from the Mayor of Sequin, Tex.

SEQUIN, TEX., January 14, 1893.

MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer of thirty years' standing, and found great relief; it purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,

CAPT. W. M. RUST,
Attorney at Law.
